

Configuring notifications

Coro can email you when the status of your service changes, or when certain events occur. To choose the granularity of your email notifications, use the Notifications tab in your User Profile.

Note

To learn more about the User Profile page, see User Profile settings.

You can select either General notifications, which cover your Workspace status and ticket remediation queue, or Specific ticket notifications for selected event types.

Coro shows a list of identified event types grouped by protection component. You can enable or disable notifications for each type using the checkboxes provided.
